TEN PAGES—THREE CENTS

KIDNAP SUSPECT TAKEN; IS USING NOTE NAME, TIM

Said To Fit Description
Of The Hunted
Murderer

Police Decline to Elaborate on Further Details

Seattle, Feb. 10.—(AP)—State police said tonight the man held here in connection with the kidnapping of Charles Mattson was arrested at a downtown hotel where he registered as "Tim Donovan," the same first name used in the crudely printed $28,000 ransom note left at the Mattson home by the kidnaper December 27.

Police declined to elaborate further. Federal bureau of investigation agents also declined comment.

The prisoner, booked as H. A. Post, seaman, was arrested yesterday.

Also known as James G. McDonald, he had been sought since Feb. 5 on "general pickup orders."

Detective A. E. Kuehl said Post was found in a cheap apartment hotel on an "underworld tip."

The prisoner, a former convict of San Quentin prison, Calif., had denied knowledge of the kidnapping and death of 10-year-old Charles, whose nude body was found battered near Everett, Wash., January 11.

Chief William Cole of the state patrol, who ordered the man's arrest last night, said Post answered the kidnapers' description perfectly. Many other persons, however, have been arrested for their resemblance to the dark, unshaven man who broke thru a French door into the living room of the Dr. W. W. Mattson home at Tacoma and took his son. All others have been released.

State and Tacoma police at American Lake, near Tacoma, sought for questioning a red-haired woman described by State Patrol Chief William Cole as the prisoner's recent companion.

Cole termed Post a "dead ringer" for witnesses' descriptions of the man who kidnapped the 10-year-old son of a Tacoma physician December 27. Charles' nude and battered body was found near Everett, Wash., January 12. He had been slain before his father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, could contact the kidnapers to pay the $28,000 ransom demanded.

Federal agents joined police in questioning Post, held technically on a grand larceny warrant.

Cole described the prisoner as 5 feet 10 inches tall but appearing several inches shorter because of his posture; swarthy complexion; with high cheekbones, a broken nose and dark brown hair.

The federal bureau of investigation's description of the Mattson abductor includes: About 30 years old; 5 feet 7 to 8 inches tall; 145-165 pounds; swarthy; not stand erect; dimple in chin; hairy hands, slightly foreign accent, speaks brokenly, appears to be a southern European extraction.

A Seattle police official said Virginia Chatfield, 15, and Charles Mattson's brother and sister, William, 16, and Muriel, 14, who saw the kidnaper, would confront the prisoner in a police lineup. The families of the children said however they knew of no such plans.

Chief Cole said the prisoner was in Tacoma the day of the kidnapping and had been at Bothell, between Bothell and Everett, several days later. He said the man's record included a 5-year term at San Quentin prison, in California, for grand theft.

Automobile Strike Is Ended; Agreement Is Reached Early Today

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 11.—(Thursday)—Governor Frank Murphy, announced at 2:35 a. m. today that an agreement had been reached between the Automobile Workers of America and General Motors Corporation, ending the 42 day old strike.

The governor said: "An agreement has been reached under the terms of which the union agrees to end the strike." The signing of the agreement will be made this morning at 11 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time.

"Terms of the agreement will be announced at that time," Governor Murphy said.

Detroit, Feb. 11.—(Thursday)—(AP)—Negotiators in the General Motors strike settlement conference continued their deliberations beyond 1:45 a. m. (EST) today, four hours after the session began. Rumors of definite progress grew as the participants moved between quarters of Governor Frank Murphy and John L. Lewis, labor leader. No word came from either side, however.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Edmund C. Shields, Michigan Democratic national committeeman, told his party's state convention here tonight that the General Motors strike would be settled by tomorrow night at the latest.

"I am happy to say," Shields said, "that through the courage, patience and tolerance of Gov. Murphy that the General Motors strike will be settled on a basis satisfactory to all concerned many hours before this convention adjourns tomorrow."

Shields declined to elaborate upon his statement, when questioned by newsmen, or to say where he obtained his information.

Gov. Frank Murphy, conferring at Detroit with officials of General Motors and the striking Auto Workers' Union, declined to comment.

'NEW ECONOMY' DRAWN UP FOR ARID SECTIONS

Roosevelt Gives Congress Working Basis
For Plan

Says Drought And Dust Problem Can Be Solved

Washington, Feb. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave congress today the working basis for developing a "new economy" for the semi-arid west. He transmitted a report using a "permanent change" in agricultural methods and land and water conservation.

In a message sent with the report of his Great Plains Drought committee, the president said the drought and dust storm problem was one that "can be solved, but the solution will take time."

"Therefore," he added, "a policy should be determined, a long run program formulated, and execution begun without undue delay."

The report recommended a new federal agency to work with state, local and private organizations in directing a "program of constructive action," in the general area between the Canadian and Mexican borders and the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains.

"Depression and drought have only accelerated a situation which has long been developing," the president said, adding:

"The problem is one of arresting the decline of an agricultural economy not adapted to the climatic conditions because of lack of information and understanding at the time of settlement, and of readjusting that economy in the light of later experience and of scientific information now available."

Among steps proposed in the report were:

Federal and state legislation to assure farming methods adaptable to the area;

Purchase of millions of acres of lands by public bodies to prevent misuse and to start reclamation;

Consolidation of local government units;

Expansion in the size of many farms called too small to maintain families;

Surveys to ascertain plough-land that should be re-grassed, grass land that may be tilled, and grass land that should remain untouched;

Extension of cooperative grazing associations.

The report said 24,000,000 acres of land could be acquired by the federal government and suggested many farmers who in the plains states might do well by resettling elsewhere.

"The plains can be transformed from a risky adventure and a recurrent liability into a stable basis of economic and social profit to their inhabitants and the whole country," the report said.

The president pointed out that the original settlers in the dry belt brought with them farming practices followed in more humid regions. He said the climate of the area had changed over the years from one of above average rainfall to light rains and long dry spells.

The committee's report proposing a six-year $5,000,000 program of construction, mostly in drainage areas, was sent to congress a week ago.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Searchers found a large sum of money today in the ruins of a north side home damaged by an explosion which killed Mrs. William Herbert, wife of a lumber dealer.

Police Captain Charles Essig said his men found "twenty notes of $1,000 denomination and two handful of notes of $100, $50, $20 and $10 denominations."

Much of the money, he said, was damaged by fire.

Herbert told a coroner's jury yesterday that a large quantity of money had been hidden in the basement and could not be found after the explosion of a fuel tank which occurred Monday.

FLINT STRIKERS CLAIM LACK OF ADEQUATE HEAT

Guards Patrol Factories As Tension
Mounts

Sit-Downers Open Windows
Protesting Temperature

Flint, Mich., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Tension heightened in strike-ridden Flint tonight as National Guard field artillery trucks, bearing mounted guns, patrolled the No. 4 Chevrolet plant, occupied by stay-in strikers.

The normal infantry guard, with machine guns and one-pound field pieces, remained on duty.

The unusual concentration of military strength in the occupied zone apparently was caused by growing resentment among the Chevrolet strikers against what they considered inadequate heat.

Robert C. Travis, United Automobile Workers organizer, said the men had opened the windows as a gesture of protest that the sewer pipes on the ground floor froze. The temperature outside was around 20 degrees below zero.

Arnold Lutz, manager of General Motors operations in Flint, Saginaw and Bay City, authorized a statement which said about 330 plant policemen were assembled near the Chevrolet plant No. 4 and held in readiness to move into the plant and force closing of the windows and restoration of heat.

The statement said the heat had been shut off when the windows were opened.

Soon after the arrival of the company police, the statement said, the windows were closed and the heat turned on, and the police were disbanded and sent home.

The management then turned off the sprinkler system to prevent flooding of the plant in event pipes had frozen and burst during the cold period, the statement continued.

Electric current was turned off Tuesday, the company said, to protect strikers and equipment after it was learned they were improvising heaters from mercury vapor lamps.

Roy Reuther, a U. A. W. A. organizer, denied that the men in Chevrolet plant No. 4 had been tampering with the heating system and asserted they had not turned off the heat.

"It is ridiculous to assume that the men would do that after they have been crying for heat for three days," Reuther said.

He said the plant windows were opened by the strikers because Mrs. Ruby Sisson, of the state labor commission, visited the plant Sunday and suggested that they air it occasionally, and also in protest against the company's turning off the heat and electricity.

Reuther said the mobilization of company police was "General Motors' strategy to provoke a fight and then walk out of the Detroit conference."

There were persistent rumors that City Manager John M. Barringer, who was deprived of his authority last night when Mayor Harold E. Bruce was made virtually dictator of the city, was planning to resign.

Find One Passenger Of Doomed Airliner; Hoist Plane, Crew From Bay

San Francisco, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Salvagers hoisted a wrecked skyliner and its dead crew of three from the depths of San Francisco Bay today.

Divers groped for the bodies of eight passengers. Puzzled officials sought the cause of the spectacular plunge within sight of the transport's destination.

Coast guardsmen, using grappling hooks, recovered tonight the broken body of Mark Fontana, millionaire San Francisco food manufacturer, from the muddy bottom of the bay near where the plane crashed. Search for other bodies was discontinued for the night.

The huge, new (Douglas) plane's death dive in fair weather brought to 43 the number of persons killed in western airplane tragedies since December 15 and intensified official determination to single out and curb the unidentified hazards.

Recovery efforts started with the raising of the 12-ton ship out of 26 feet of water about three miles off the Municipal airport south of the city.

Huge cranes brought the wreckage to the surface, revealing pilot A. R. "Tommy" Thompson, one of United Airlines' star pilots, crushed to death in the control seat. The mangled body of co-pilot Joe De Casaro was at Thompson's side.

Near by, in the forward part of the plane, was the unscratched body of stewardess Ruth Kimmel.

The roof of the fuselage was torn out, apparently by the impact of the eight passengers striking against it as the big ship struck the water and flopped over on its back with terrific force. Apparently the passengers' bodies had slipped through the gaping roof hole and out into the bay.

Several investigators, among them Coast Guard Lieutenant Commander C. C. Paden, expressed the belief Thompson had throttled down his motors too soon, accidentally stalling the plane.

T. R. Martin, radio control tower operator at the field, said he heard a strange "wham" from the plane's radio.

Whether this indicated a mechanical failure of the twin-motored ship or was merely the sound of the impact being transmitted by the radio set remained undetermined.

Martin formally reported to United Airlines that the plane approached with a request that it be allowed to land toward the west.

The ship came over the field at a 400-foot height, Martin said, followed the shore line northward and circled to the right, apparently to descend to a landing level. The plane was arriving on a regular flight from Los Angeles.

"He (Thompson) then turned rather sharply toward the San Mateo bridge (southeast of the field)," said Martin's report, "and was circling for another approach for the west runway."

"However, as he made his turn the plane went into approximately a 45 degree dive and continued at that angle until he went below the dyke and I no longer could see his lights. (The dyke is an earthen embankment along the shore line to the north.)"

A few seconds later there was a terrific roar which lasted approximately two seconds—and then all was quiet. There was no explosion or other sound that when the plane hit, could not hear his motors after he made the turn and cannot say whether or not they still were turning over."

Commerce department inspectors immediately converged upon San Francisco from Washington and Los Angeles for an investigation. W. R. Schroder, en route from Washington, was authorized to take charge.

The craft was one of 28 in a new $3,000,000 fleet put into service by United Airlines December 21 on its Los Angeles-San Francisco and San Francisco-New York Lines.

The crash bereaved families of wealth, business and society.

Miss Grennan, 24, and her father, a real estate man, were en route to their Berkeley home to make preparations for her wedding in April to Paul Alexander Fuller.

Fontana was a millionaire food manufacturer and yachtsman. Gilmore an oil burner company executive and Lorge an automobile salesman. Margaroni was the operator of a San Francisco cafe. Meyer represented a New York underwear manufacturer, and H. O. Freedlander was a Los Angeles business man.

Thompson began flying with an elementary plane that paid his expenses as a student in the University of New Mexico in 1922 to 1923. He had more than 10,000 hours in the air to his credit.

Co-pilot De Casaro was the father of a child born 16 months ago.

Morris, Kas. Feb. 10.—(AP)—Only seconds did Ruth Kimmel, 25-year-old stewardess who died with 10 others in an airliner's plunge into San Francisco bay last night, miss a fatal plane crash Dec. 27.

Floyd Kimmel, her brother who lives here with her parents, said she was assigned to the ill-fated December plane when the regular stewardess, Yvonne Trego, did not appear.

Miss Kimmel checked the passengers into the plane and closed the door. Then Miss Trego arrived and took her usual place. A few hours later the ship crashed near Burbank, killing all 12 occupants.

PART OF SENATE GROUP HAS TALK WITH PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Seeks To Rally Support On Court Plan

Minor Issue of Proposal Passes
House 315-75

Washington, Feb. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt took an apparent first step today to rally Democratic senators behind his proposed reorganization of the courts.

He discussed the proposals, including the naming of six new justices to the Supreme Court, in an hour-long meeting with five Democratic members of the Senate judiciary committee.

One of the conferees, silver-haired Senator McCarran of Nevada, said afterward:

"No one was asked if he had approved or disapproved it. One in the conference gave his whole-hearted endorsement."

He would not identify the supporters. Those present had included Senators Neely of West Virginia, McGill of Kansas, Hatch of New Mexico and Hughes of Delaware.

The senatorial conference followed overwhelming House approval of legislation to permit Supreme Court justices past 70 to retire on full pay. This bill, dovetailing with the president's proposal to name new justices for those past 70 who refused to retire, was passed and sent to the Senate by a vote of 315 to 75.

Some Republicans contended—and administration leaders denied—that the quick House action was maneuvered to give the country an impression the legislators had approved the president's proposals generally.

Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) of the House judiciary committee planned for a time to seek immediate passage also of a second judicial bill. This would give the government the right to appeal directly to the Supreme Court from adverse district court rulings, and to intervene in private lawsuits where a constitutional question was involved.

Sumners suddenly decided not to call up this measure today and, after giving one explanation and then acknowledging it was wrong, said the White House had some question about it.

He said he understood a note was on its way to him from the White House.

Presidential aides then asserted the chief executive wanted to look over the bill to see if it fitted into his reorganization scheme.

The president intervened," commented one Democratic House leader, who preferred not to be quoted by name.

Some congressmen expressed belief privately that the president did not want his proposals acted upon piecemeal, fearing the most controversial part might be lost in this manner.

House approval of the Supreme Court retirement measure followed a bitter debate that split party lines and sometimes covered the whole range of the proposed reorganization.

Representative Lamneck, an Ohio business man who opposed the administration last session on the undistributed surplus tax, delivered the first Democratic speech against the president's proposals on the House floor.

He declared the proposals might lead to a "Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin government."

Representative Guyer (R-Kan.) contended the retirement bill constituted an invitation to justices of the Supreme Court to quit. Sumners denied it asserting:

"We are merely giving a privilege to the Supreme Court justices already granted to other federal justices."

Rockford, Ill. Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Laura Bryan, 29, plump, red-haired principal in what she said was a "wife swapping" case which originated in Canajoharie, N. Y., pleaded guilty today to charges of adultery.

The case was continued for sentence and bond was fixed at $1,000, which her friends sought to provide.

Interviewed today, Mrs. Bryan said she and Homer Smith, who lived on a neighboring New York farm, came to Rockford two years ago after Smith and Bryan had "swapped wives."

She charged that Smith's wife, mother of six children, "took a fancy to my husband because he had money."

"His wife doesn't want him back," she asserted, "and my husband doesn't want me. I want to get a divorce if I possibly can and marry Homer as soon as things are straightened out."

Smith, arrested here, has been taken to New York to face a wife and child abandonment charge.

SMACKS MRS. KISS

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A smack on the chin has parted the Kisses.

Mrs. Susan Hardy Kiss, 25, filed a divorce suit in superior court today against Michael Kiss, 27. She charged cruelty, claiming he slapped her.

Blessings in Disguise

A great disaster can be a great blessing in disguise. Which is just another way of saying that cities, like people, sometimes need to be shaken out of their lethargy.

Take, for example, Louisville, Ky. For many years a riverfront area called "The Point" and crisscrossed with squalid houses has detracted from the beauty of that city. Anyone acquainted with Louisville knows that "The Point" has a rather tough reputation. But little or nothing has ever been done about cleaning it up.

A couple of weeks ago the Ohio river went on a rampage, and caused severe damage at Louisville. And now, as a part of a long range rehabilitation program that civic leaders are planning, "The Point" is scheduled to become a beautiful park. At the same time, slums that cover the nearby lowlands may be condemned, and erased.

In years to come, residents of the Kentucky city can see these improvements and remember that they owe them to a great disaster. And they will not be the first city to have benefited in this way, for history is replete with instances in which clouds of disaster have had silver linings.

Chicago of today, for instance, was born like Phoenix from flames that raged unchecked across the old wooden-built city.

It was to a huge tidal wave and a great hurricane that residents of Galveston, Texas, owe the splendor of their city. In that catastrophe 6,000 people died and almost every building was leveled, but the survivors carried on in heroic style.

Three years after the tremendous 1904 fire swept her entire business district, Baltimore, Md., had completed rebuilding, and found that disaster had left her with a better city government and greater diversification of industry.

A tremor-born fire raged for three days in San Francisco, during the early years of this century, and demolished one-third of the city. Now, with modern steel buildings, it is one of the finest cities in the United States.

In the Miami river flood of 1913, Dayton, Ohio, suffered $100,000,000 damage and 400 people died. But for its determination that the tragedy must never again recur, Dayton might now be a dismal surviving flood debris in its streets. But it built a $32,000,000 system of dams and straightened and widened stream beds. Now its residents can be complacent during the flood seasons.

No community wants experience with fires, floods, earthquakes, epidemics or other calamities. But history shows that disasters have been followed by improvements that otherwise would not have taken place.

If Louisville does away with "The Point," the flood will have accomplished something that no other power has ever been able to do.

Drivers' Licenses

Illinois is one of the 11 states in which agitation for enactment of motor drivers' licenses is alive and with prospects of success.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Tennessee, in addition to Illinois, comprise a quartet of more populous states in which the agitation is most active. Seven other states have such legislation under consideration, but whose legislatures are not now in session.

Generally, the broad outlines of the model vehicle code are being followed in shaping up the proposed laws. In states where the full provisions of the model code cannot now be enacted, the best laws obtainable are urged, with a hope that later revisions will improve them.

Illinois is among the states with a high record of motor fatalities in 1935, the total for this state being estimated at 2,365, which is slightly greater than for 1935.

As Thousands Cheer

The editor of the Texas Weekly evidently isn't sport-minded. For in the current issue of his magazine he says some rather cutting things about the employment of Dana X. Bible as coach at the University of Texas. Or, if the Texas editor really does enjoy watching a game of football, he doesn't permit his love of the sport to counter-balance his good sense.

"The studios high school lad who devoted hours to the preparation of a declamation which he finally delivered to an empty auditorium, while his fellows were on the football field cheering a heroic quarterback, is probably the college president today who is standing to one side while the public heaps acclaim upon the football coach. In any event, plaudits are being showered on Texas just now, because the University lured Dana X. Bible from Nebraska with a ten year contract at $15,000 a year, and because S. M. U. desperately met a counter-offer from Iowa by giving Matty Bell a five year contract at a boost in salary and virtually a lifetime job thereafter as a professor in the university.

"While everyone is patting everyone else on the back, it might be unpopular to express misgivings. But it does seem ridiculous that the head of one particular department, no matter how great his prowess, should draw a salary twice as large as the president, and that he should merit a long term contract not enjoyed by other officers of the institution."

Cost of Education

To carry it through the next two year period, the University of Illinois will request from the present General Assembly an appropriation now estimated at $12,654,102, from the tax revenues of the state.

This appropriation is substantially the same as that which the University requested in 1929-31, at which time the amount appropriated from tax revenues was $12,115,000. At that time the enrollment at the university was 12,413, whereas, for the current year the enrollment is 12,919, the largest in the university's history. It must be added also that these figures do not take into account the Summer Session enrollment, which in 1936 was 3,127, another all-time record.

The Trustees of the University will also ask that the Federal funds received by the state for the University's use be reapportioned to it and that its own income from fees, sales and other sources, paid into the state treasury, as required by law, also be appropriated to it.

These items aggregate $3,754,530, which added to the tax fund asked, would give the University $16,408,632 per year for all purposes during the biennium, of which $6,327,051 per year would come from State tax revenues.

The increase in the need for the University seems apparent. Increased equipment and more instructors are needed for the increased enrollment. In three years the increased enrollment has amounted to some 3,000 students, about 30 per cent. In order to uphold the high standard of scholarship at the University the added instructors must be men and women of experience and maturity.

A first scanning of the figures may startle the tax payer at the great cost of education. A more intelligent view of the figures, as well as a realization of the great work done by the University will doubtless reconcile the laymen to the tax bill for the University. Undoubtedly the tax appropriations for many things could be wisely slashed, but the appropriation for education would not be one of them.

The Feed Situation

Livestock men have made use of all the experience gained during the 1934 drought to preserve the limited supplies of feed and to provide winter pastures. They culled their herds and flocks severely to make further savings.

For the last six weeks the ground over most of the drought area has been covered with sleet and ice, a condition which has eliminated the possibility of utilizing winter pastures and increased the use of supplies of feed. In addition, floods have destroyed a considerable amount of the available supplies of grain and forage. There have been heavy losses of livestock from accidents incident to icy feed lots and pastures. In many instances it has been almost impossible to haul feeds from fields to the feed lots.

The maritime strike has prevented the movement of corn from South America and concentrates from the Orient into this country. The settlement of the strike now will relieve this situation to some extent.

Fortunately, prices on the central markets have been high enough to permit movement of distressed livestock without undue sacrifice. There is still sufficient feed available in most localities to carry through the winter, unless an extremely late spring retards the growth of cereals and pasture grasses. Although reports are conflicting, the great majority indicate that the fall seeded grains have not as yet suffered from exceptional winter killing.

The remaining feed is not well distributed, but the assistance given by the government livestock feed agency and by drought freight rates granted by the railroads makes it possible for those in deficiency areas to secure supplies with minimum overhead costs.

PIONEERS TRAPPED WILD TURKEYS ALIVE

And Also Hauled Home-made Liquor Across Ice

News concerning wild turkeys, which has been frequent of late, has recalled to the mind of W. F. Stone, 232 Westminster street, some interesting things told him by his father, Thomas H. Stone, a pioneer of Brown county. Residents of that section in the early days often caught wild turkeys alive. They built covered pens, about which they dug a trench. Shelled corn was scattered in the trench and the turkeys would come for the corn and find their way under the walls of the pen. But when they wanted to leave, they preferred to fly and would look upward for a means of escape. They never thought of leaving by the route they had come, and consequently were trapped.

The ice on the Illinois river was thick in the early days. Mr. Stone recalls his father's stories of walking across the river and pulling a light sled. In those days the settlers manufactured brandy and other stimulants. They would load a barrel on a small sled, hitch themselves to it and haul the supply to Meredosia on this side of the river.

The Family Doctor

Diphtheria Particularly Dangerous to Children Under 5 Years of Age

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

It is not safe to gamble on the possibility that a throat infection which looks like diphtheria is really not diphtheria, but something else. If your child complains of sickness, particularly of a sore throat, and if there is any possibility that he has been exposed to diphtheria, a culture should be taken and the material examined immediately.

A doctor should be summoned instantly if your child appears to have swelling of the neck or any crampy condition with hoarseness. Eighty-five per cent of the deaths from diphtheria occur in youngsters under 5 years of age. In such children particularly, therefore, recognition of diphtheria at the earliest possible moment is important.

In preventing diphtheria, the most significant factors are the use of the Schick test and of diphtheria toxoid. During the first six months of life, many children are protected from diphtheria by material coming to them through their mothers.

The Schick test, which shows whether a child has this protection in his body, is merely a method in which a very small amount of diphtheria toxin is injected under the skin. People who have resistance to disease will have negative Schick test; those who have not, a positive one.

When a person does not possess sufficient resistance to the disease, he may be given this resistance artificially by injection with a substance called toxoid.

Toxoid is a diphtheria poison made innocuous, or detoxified, by the addition of formaldehyde. There are both one-dose and two-dose treatments. The majority of physicians prefer to give the two injections three weeks apart. Injection of this toxoid stimulates formation in the child's body of a substance capable of overcoming the diphtheria poison.

Use of the Schick test in thousands of cases has shown that about 8 per cent of young babies are without resistance at 1 year of age, and about 65 per cent are without sufficient resistance at the age of 5.

Before the invention of toxoid it was customary to ward off diphtheria by giving those who had been exposed a dose of the antitoxin. This type of injection would prevent the disease for only a short time. Then a mixture of toxin and antitoxin was given. Since this involved the injection of horse serum, however, toxoid has gradually replaced both antitoxin and diphtheria.

In the treatment of the disease, the antitoxin, of course, is most valuable.

Fire Damages Home Of Kirby Black Here

Firemen Work for Hour and Half to Overcome Blaze Here Yesterday

Fire of rather dangerous proportions Wednesday noon caused considerable damage to the home of Kirby Black, at 531 South Kosciuszko street. Firemen worked for over an hour and a half in extinguishing the blaze which crept from the porch to the roof.

The fire began on the shingles of the roof of a porch, crept in between the siding and weather boarding of the side of the house, and up to the roof. A tin roof confined the blaze to the interior of the house and made fighting the blaze difficult. Firemen used water sparingly.

See or phone Alkire Ins. Agency, Duncan Bldg., for adequate fire policies. (adv.)

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Calomel is only a mal-shipment. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

CELLOPHANE-COVERED DOLLARS GET AROUND

Book Bindery Puts 2,000 Bills in Circulation

A few years ago a Washington stenographer set the reading public agog with a book, "Angels in Cellophane". The idea got around, and now in Jacksonville there is in circulation a new kind of money—dollars in cellophane. The strangely dressed dollar bills made their appearance last week and are now scattered pretty much over the city. Some have found their way out of town and have been seen in Springfield and Quincy.

The idea was originated by the New Method Book Bindery. The employees receive their pay when they cash their checks at the bank. Each dollar bill is in a separate cellophane envelope. The wrapper carries the following information printed on one side: "One of the 2,000 put in circulation weekly. A New Method Book Bindery, Inc. Payroll Dollar."

The first of the cellophane wrapped dollars went into circulation when the pay was distributed last Saturday to the hundred employees of the bindery. They appeared almost at once in many local stores. Some have been held out as souvenirs. One was noted in Quincy Sunday morning, and some have made their appearance in Springfield. The new money will last until the cellophane wears out. The experiment will be continued several weeks.

At the bottom of each wrapper is the legend, "Brought to Jacksonville, spent in Jacksonville."

Centenary Church Notes

Last Wednesday evening the first meeting of Centenary's Sunday school workers for the year was held with an attendance of sixteen present. After a pot luck supper problems of the Sunday school were discussed under the leadership of A. C. Metcalf, superintendent and Rev. M. M. Blair, pastor. It was a most profitable meeting and plans are being made to make this one of great interest and importance.

Disagreeable weather lessened attendance in the Sunday school and morning hour of worship, however interest in these services by those present was marked. Many Sunday school attendants were kept home by reason of colds as were some of the teachers.

Rev. Blair brought an impressive message on "The Call of Lent."

Musical service was exceptionally good and the choir under the leadership of Miss Vesely rendered a special number, "Not Understood" was given as a solo by Donald Lister with fine delivery.

Thursday 8:30 choir practice at the parsonage.

Centenary with Grace and Brooklyn are observing a preaching mission this week in keeping with the Lenten season. Thursday and Friday evening the mission will be held in Centenary.

Relief Clients Go On Sit-down Strike In Beardstown, Ill.

Protest Against Slash in Relief Orders; Former Pastor Dies

Beardstown—Carrying placards roughly inscribed with "Don't Make Reds Out of Us," between fifty and seventy-five men, women and children of this city marched through local streets Tuesday in a demonstration protesting the short rations on which they have been placed as relief clients.

Simultaneously about fifteen heads of relief families, members of the Illinois Workers Alliance, started a "sit down" strike at the headquarters of Roy L. Phelps, local relief administrator, stating they are determined to remain in the building until more relief is provided.

Mayor Fred Cline of this city was in Springfield Monday and attended a meeting of the United Charities association, and expressed his belief that emergency relief legislation will be passed by the state legislature soon, to ease the local situation as well as similar conditions in other parts of the state.

Roy L. Phelps, local supervisor in charge of relief, has been forced to cut relief to the minimum here as a result of the growing relief load.

The strikers have taken possession of the waiting room in the relief headquarters at the Community house here. They refused to leave at 5 p. m. Tuesday when Mr. Phelps and his aides left the building. Food was brought to them during the day by other members of the workers alliance.

Former Pastor Dies
August Bergmann, 209 West Eighth street, left here Tuesday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend funeral services for Rev. Richard Schmidt, former pastor of the Beardstown Lutheran church, who died Monday in his home in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. Schmidt was pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church of this city for six years. From here he was called to Syracuse and then to Washington, being transferred to Philadelphia two years ago.

Millikin Loses Two Cagers; Roan Back

Decatur Quintet Has Dates With Wesleyan, Illinois This Week

Decatur.—The effect of the loss of two of its leading cagers, James Thompson, Carrollton, and Mike Benson, will be known this week. Millikin jumps into its second semester schedule with three games during the coming week opening Thursday night against Illinois Wesleyan of Bloomington on the local armory floor. In their first meeting the Titans carried off a 62 to 52 win.

With only a day's rest the Blue goes to Jacksonville on Saturday to meet the Blue Boys of Illinois College the second time.

The first game resulted in a 30 to 27 last minute win for LaRue VanMeter's quintet. The following Tuesday, February 16, Eureka College plays here in the first game of a home and home series.

The loss of Thompson, by ineptibility, and Benson, who failed to return to school this semester, would make Millikin chances of bettering their record of six losses, no victories, slim were it not for the timely return of Howard Roan to the team. Roan, ineligible last semester, was a member of Quincy's state champions in 1934. He is being used as center in practice and will get his chance for a regular berth this week.

Coach Leo T. Johnson announced Tuesday the lineup to be used the majority of the time during the next three contests. Roan is to be used at center with Jim Helfrich, who formerly played center, and Dave Colet at the forward positions. Jay Glynn and Burnell Fisher are the guards. Reserves are Ed Scherer, Ralph Allan, Gene DeRoche and George Reynolds. Millikin freshmen will play Springfield Junior College in a preliminary game to the Wesleyan conflict, Thursday. The players likely to see service are Maurice Feldman, Beckmeyer, center; Bruce Johnson, Walter Schlie, Myron Cochran, Decatur, forwards; Roy Clute, Robinson; Bill Newton, Olney, and Arthur Lutz, Decatur, guards. The freshmen in two games have won and lost one each.

INTERPRETATIONS which officials in charge of district tournaments have been asked to follow have been published in the current issue of the Illinois Athletic, I. H. S. A. A. publication. One of these interpretations requires that all jump balls called while either of the two players has a foot in contact with the center circle or while either or both are in the center circle, shall be treated in the same way as a center jump.

CROWDING around jump balls in the center of the court will be eliminated by this ruling. Players are required to stay out of the larger circle until the ball is tapped. The rule already is in effect for jump balls called while players are contacting or are in the free throw lane.

EXPERIMENTS will be conducted Friday night at Carrollton between Carrollton and Greenfield. Second teams along these lines. Coach Orville Krughoff of Carrollton team also expects to have all jump balls brought to one of the three circles. He also expects to have a foul, namely that of giving the ball to the offended team out of bounds under its own basket, and restricting all but one of the defensive players to the outside of a semi-circle drawn two feet back of a semi-circle to which the offended player's mates are restricted.

BRADLEY staged a mad dash during four minutes of play in which they rang up 17 points to beat Illinois Wesleyan Tuesday night. Herb Scheffler, the Fletcher brothers and a couple other Blueboys went to Peoria to see the game. Bradley led 5-4 at the end of four minutes of play, and then Panish, Osborne and Schunk connected with 17 points to give the Indians a 22-4 lead at the end of eight minutes. That lead was too great for the Titans to overcome.

GENE IHRIG who went over to Fisher this year after taking his Hull boys to the state finals last year, is having troubles at his new home. A case of small-pox broke out in the Fisher school and Ihrig called off some ball games. He isn't even certain that the boys will get into the state sponsored tournaments. Ihrig has been coming along fine up there, despite the fact that he has had very little material this year.

CANTON finally brought an end to Lewistown's winning streak Tuesday night. The Plovers stopped the Lewistown team 30-16 and ended a string of victories which had reached 18. Included in the victims was Beardtown.

David Prince Names Team for Tourney

Coach John Agger Nominates 12 Boys for Squad In County Meet

Twelve players have been nominated by Coach John Agger to make up the squad of the David Prince junior high school team which will seek the county grade school basketball championship in a tournament to be conducted by the Journal and Courier beginning next Tuesday. The David Prince entry is the second to be received naming the squad which will take part in the tournament, although four other schools have definitely declared their intention of having a team in the tournament.

Entries for the tournament must be received at the Journal and Courier office not later than midnight Friday night. Pairings and playing time assignments will be published in the Sunday, Feb. 14 issue of the Journal and the Monday, Feb. 15 issue of the Courier.

David Prince will present a strong squad for the tournament. Coach Agger has named Bob Day, George Ingold, Byron Doyle, Enrico Cincio, Horace Stringham, Howard Reynolds, Garvin Cowgair, Homer Burton, Richard Walker, Richard Summers, William Thomas and Frank Andrews for the squad, and will have to cut two players off the list in order to come under the prescribed 10 player limit.

Schools are permitted to enter as many boys as they wish with the understanding that they play their first game, the list will be reduced to 10 players. The provision is made in order to take care of any unforeseen happenings which might cause a player who is nominated to be unable to appear.

The Journal and Courier sports department, which is managing the tournament, yesterday set the admission prices for the games at 25c for adults and 10c for children after conferring with school administrators. It is probable that there will be at least four games the opening session next Tuesday, two games on Wednesday and two games on Thursday. All games will be played at night.

The DOCTOR says: How to Treat Stomach Ailments

In this day of fast and careless eating, there is an ever-present danger of ptomaine and other alimentary disorders. Minor stomach trouble can frequently be eased and cured by home treatment, if you are thoroughly sure of your procedure and have the necessary medicines.

In general, though, the safest practice is to refer immediately to a good doctor and use his advice. It saves money in the long run, every time. And it's so much safer and surer—a health protection that you can't afford to overlook.

And when the doctor suggests medicine or a prescription—come here for exact and efficient handling.

Five Teams Compete Tuesday Night in Beardstown; Virginia Troop Third

Five First Aid teams from the Blackhawk district of the Abraham Lincoln Council competed in the Mid-West Boy Scout First Aid contest held in the High School Gymnasium at Beardstown Tuesday night.

Five problems in First Aid treatment for accidents were given and all teams gave evidence of careful training. Each team was composed of three members and a leader and a definite time was agreed upon for the completion of each problem.

The contest was won by a team from Troop No. 129 with John Shaw as leader, second place to Troop No. 129, Bob Gramman, leader, and third place to the Kiwanis Troop, No. 126, Virginia, Ill., with George Orr, leader.

The winner will represent the Blackhawk district in the council contest to be held in Springfield in the near future.

All events were closely contested. The winner and the teams finishing second and third were separated by less than two points.

The following Scouts were judges in the contest: LeMont Gist, George Haddenhorst, A. A. Krohe, R. M. Scott, Joe E. Bergman, Dr. H. W. Welch, all of Beardstown; Robert Morse, Virginia; and Stanley Darr, Jerry Prosserman and Fred E. Darr of Jacksonville. The contest was in charge of Wm. J. Fisher of the Abraham Lincoln Council, and score-keeper and timer was M. C. McAllister, principal of the Beardstown High School.

The teams taking part in this contest were two teams from Troop No. 129, a team from American Legion troop, a team from the Methodist church troop, all of Beardstown, and the Kiwanis troop from Virginia, Ill.

PRESSExpanded Receipts
Weaken Livestock

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—Expanding receipts in the hog and sheep divisions weakened livestock prices today. Cattle resisted the decline and advanced 25 cents in some cases.

Hogs closed 10 cents lower in instances, top dropping 5 cents to $10.25. This market action coincided with an increase of 5,000 above advance estimates in receipts and with further weakness in the dressed pork trade. Choice pork loins lost 1 cent a pound wholesale.

Fat lambs dropped 15 to 25 cents. The best price paid was $10.85, compared with yesterday's quote of $11.

Advances scored by cattle occurred mostly in the bulk of the steer and yearling crop of value to sell at $9.50 to $13 and in heifers, which topped at $12.25. Common and medium grades also shared in the upturn.

Best cattle, however, were fully steady, with $14 to $14.50 paid frequently by order buyers and shippers.

Traders said heavy cattle slaughter and comparatively sluggish condition of the dressed beef trade are factors holding cattle values around the winter "ceiling." Current average price is near the highest level in almost 2 years while the top is the best in 13 months.

Stocks Sweep Into
New High Territory

New York, Feb. 10.—(P)—Stock market leaders swept into new high territory for the past six years today with gains ranging from 1 to 4 points.

U. S. Steel led the pack, pushing up to just below $106 a share and closing at $105.62, up $4 net at its best level since the depression.

Exceptionally optimistic steel operating news, renewed hopes for a quick break in the General Motors strike and indications business is moving briskly forward despite labor and flood difficulties helped to stimulate buying demand.

Chrysler jumped 3 1/2 points to 133 1/2 and the directors, after the close, declared a dividend of $1.50 a share and revealed 1936 earnings of $14.25 a share, the best in the concern's history. A dividend of $1 was paid last March, another of $1.50 in June, one of $4 in September and a year-end disbursement of $5.50 was voted.

General Motors executed a comeback, ex-dividend, this stock was up 1 1/2 at 67 1/2.

January Is Record

Month for Co-op Bank

More farmers' cooperatives applied to the St. Louis Bank for Co-ops for loans during January 1937, than for any month since the institution was established as a permanent unit of the St. Louis Farm Credit administration in August, 1935.

Applications were received from twenty farmers' cooperatives doing business within the Sixth Farm Credit district, including Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

This upward trend, according to D. M. Hardy, president of the bank, does

Farm and Rural Interest

Illinois Farmers Show Interest in Terracing Slopes; Big Results Noted in Some Counties; Survey Farm Needs in Flood Area; Cass County Boys Study Grain Markets

Reflecting the increased interest of Illinois farmers in controlling erosion, more than 400 miles of terraces have been built in the state during the past 12 months, according to R. C. Hay, extension specialist in agricultural engineering, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Examples of the value of terracing and contour farming as additions to the soil conservation and improvement programs of the state can be found on several Crawford county farms, Hay said.

First terracing in the county was done six years ago on the farm of Pay Duncan, Flat Rock, as a terracing demonstration. With interest increasing each year, Farm Adviser Harold Allison reports that last year ten miles of terraces were built in the county.

Duncan was anxious to have the terraces as a protection in establishing seeding of alfalfa. He has since terraced another field and is practicing contour farming.

"I am pleased with the results obtained by contour farming in saving soil and moisture," Duncan said. "Also I find that my horses can do more work without tiring when I farm on the contour than when they are working on straight rows up and down slopes. However, terracing alone is not enough. Other soil-conserving practices such as soil treatment, deep rooted legumes in the rotation and permanent pasture on steep slopes are needed for successful soil conservation."

Following each heavy rain, H. N. Fox, Palestine, has inspected his 30 acres of terraced land and has observed very little soil loss. An appreciable saving of moisture was indicated by the growing crops during the drought of last summer.

By the use of his own blade terracer and tractor, Fox has demonstrated that with a well organized plan, farmers can build their own terraces. He has found it best to establish outlets first in order that a tough sod may be established before the terraces are built.

Both Duncan and Fox are cooperators with the Soil Conservation Service and have been aided by technical assistance and labor. However, they plan to continue working out long time soil conservation programs on their own farms whether or not federal aid is provided. Both men have been chosen among the Crawford county leaders in the soil conservation project being sponsored throughout the state by the extension service of the College of Agriculture.

Farm Need in Flood

Area to Be Surveyed

A. R. Wright, assistant treasurer of the Illinois Agricultural Association, left Chicago Tuesday to make a survey of needs of stricken farmers in the southern Illinois flood district. He and two others, Farm Adviser E. C. Longmire of Urbana, representing the state agricultural extension service, are on the I.A.A. committee to plan aid for farmers. Reports to date show that the flood has covered much of Alexander county, two thirds of Gallatin county, half of Saline and large sections of Pulaski, Massac, Pope, Hardin, White and adjoining counties.

January Is Record

Month for Co-op Bank

More farmers' cooperatives applied to the St. Louis Bank for Co-ops for loans during January 1937, than for any month since the institution was established as a permanent unit of the St. Louis Farm Credit administration in August, 1935.

Applications were received from twenty farmers' cooperatives doing business within the Sixth Farm Credit district, including Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

This upward trend, according to D. M. Hardy, president of the bank, does not indicate that farmers' marketing and purchasing associations are borrowing more money than they normally require, but it does show an increased desire to use the broader services of their cooperative credit system and to become affiliated as a member.

The St. Louis Bank for Cooperatives, in considering loans, places special emphasis on sound business practices and the active support of the associations' farmer-owners.

Cass County Young Men Study Grain Marketing

The sixth meeting of the Beardstown Ag. Night school was held in the agricultural room of the high school Monday night. The topic of discussion was "Importance of Grain Marketing to Illinois Farmers."

It was disclosed during the meeting that the sales of cash grain by farmers ranks next to sales of livestock in Illinois. This makes the study of grain marketing of great importance to farmers in the state as a whole.

Grains are raised for feed as well as for sale. In 1933 and 1934 the percentages of production sold have been estimated in the following order: Wheat, soybeans, corn, oats and barley. Since they are raised as commercial crops and not as feed, naturally larger percentages of wheat and soybeans are marketed than of the feed grains, corn, oats and barley. Nevertheless, because of the acreage in the state, corn leads in importance in total sales. Annual sales of important grain crops in Illinois averaged as follows in 1933 and 1934: Corn 38.8 millions of dollars, wheat 19.5, oats 5.6, soybeans 5.4, barley 0.3.

The percentage of crops sold and the relative importance of the different crops vary in importance in different counties. Naturally each person is particularly interested in his own county. The group of young men looked up the various references that have Cass county figures relative to grains and decided the value of crops made the grain crops rank in Cass as follows: Corn, wheat, soybeans, oats, cowpeas and rye.

The next meeting of the Beardstown night school will be held Monday, Feb. 15th at 7:30 p.m. The topic of discussion will be "Some Problems of the Individual Farmer in Connection with Grain Marketing."

All young men from 18 to 30 years old who are interested are welcome. No tuition is required.

Fewer Bearing Trees

Maintain Apple Supply

Apple growers in the United States are now producing almost as many apples as were grown on practically twice as many trees 25 years ago, says H. P. Gould, fruit specialist of the Bureau of Plant Industry.

Back in 1910 there were 151,300,000 apple trees of bearing age, 65,800,000 of which had not reached bearing age, but the average production was only 1.02 bushels for each tree. By 1925 there were only 103,700,000 trees of bearing age, 34,300,000 which had not reached the bearing age, although the average yield per tree had been boosted to 1.76 bushels.

In 1935 the number of bearing trees had been reduced to 82,500,000 trees of bearing age, 17,500,000 of non-bearing age, and the average yield per tree was 1.64 bushels.

The decrease in the number of trees apparently had been in non-commercial areas, says Mr. Gould. This probably accounts for the improved average in production, and the result of better care for the orchards in the commercial areas.

Another notable trend reported by Mr. Gould is the shift in production leadership from the East to the West. In 1917 Washington state first exceeded New York in apple production. Since 1921 Washington has held the lead consistently and now is producing two to three times as many apples as any eastern state.

Despite the increase in population there has been no increase in consumption of apples in the last few years. Mr. Gould points out that orange production is up 155 per cent since 1915, and grapefruit production has jumped 118 per cent since 1921.

Wheat Soars, Then
Reacts to Selling

Chicago, Feb. 10.—(P)—Stirred by big purchasing for Germany from Argentina, Canada and Czechoslovakia, wheat soared almost 2 cents today, but partly reacted later under profit-taking.

About 2,500,000 bushels of wheat in all were estimated as having been bought today to be shipped to Germany from other countries. Adding impetus to the upturn of wheat values was announcement that domestic flour sales the past week were the largest in two months, owing to a flurry of family buying orders.

In contrast with wheat action were setbacks of corn values, an evident reason being that demand for corn lacked yesterday's vigor.

At the close, wheat was 1 1/2 higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 135 1/2-137 1/2, Sept. 113 1/2-115 1/2, July 109 1/2-111 1/2, Sept. 96 1/2-98 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/2 up, May 51-51 1/2, and rye unchanged to 1/2 off, May 112 1/2-113 1/2. The provisions outcome was 5 to 40 cents setback.

Lightning Features Jerseyville Storm

Bolt Ruins Tree; Downpour of Rain Visits South Part of County

Jerseyville—Lightning of destructive force accompanied a hail storm in the Jerseyville locality about eight o'clock Monday morning. A bolt struck a young elm tree near the sidewalk before the residence of Miss Sarah Hill on Giddings Avenue and tore the tree into ribbons. The diameter of the elm was about eight inches.

South of Jerseyville, a rainstorm assuming cloudburst proportions waned out culverts and small bridges, causing serious erosion damage to wheat fields in the path of the overwhelming downpour.

A heavy hail fell at Jerseyville for five minutes. Immediately following the hail, a funnel shaped cloud appeared above the earth. Many residents of Jerseyville who observed the approach of the cloud scurried to cellars and basements, but the threatening tornado lifted still higher from the earth and was dissipated before it could strike.

Livestock Shipments

The Jersey County Shipping Association reported Monday a number of recent shipments of livestock through the organization. Joseph R. Fulkerson marketed twenty-one hogs that averaged 236 pounds and sold at $10.50. Other hogs marketed were as follows: seven, averaging 172 pounds by Edward Westfall of Fieldon, at $10.40 per hundred weight; nineteen, averaging 247 pounds and bringing $10.30, by Don Dibel of Fieldon.

One shipment of cattle was made by J. V. Kallal. Twelve steers averaging 953 brought $9.00 per hundred and three steers averaging 840, brought eight dollars a hundred weight.

Two Friends of Local Man Victims Of Flood Waters

Zeigler Residents Drown In Big Muddy River; Conditions Described

J. L. Lockwood of East State street, has received word of the death of two close friends, victims of the flood and high water. Mr. Lockwood received the news that Harland Hall and Peter Tedor of Zeigler, had drowned in the Big Muddy river. Hall's body was found strapped to a tree. Tedor's body has not been found.

The conditions were so terrible in streams and fishing. They purchased an out board motor boat to try out the high waters.

Because of a dream Mrs. Hall pleaded with her husband not to take the motor trip. She had a premonition that something dreadful would happen. She pleaded with the men not to take the trip.

Both men were prominent nine employees of the southern city. It is thought the men were driving the boat along the river when the front end ran into a log and tipped them out.

Mr. Lockwood has received a letter from friends in the flooded area, and conditions are almost unbelievable.

Five hundred lived in the Shawneetown high school for 10 days, and during that period they had but 10 cots, which were occupied by people who were sick. Those who could not find cots slept on the floor and in many cases people were seen standing up, leaning against the wall asleep.

Two babies were born there, and two persons died, an old lady 104 years old.

The letter in part says: "So many of the refugees had not had much food for so long that it was almost a riot when they arrived on the boat. Many were suffering from pneumonia."

"The conditions were so terrible you can't imagine how bad it was."

Mr. Lockwood resided in southern Illinois before coming to this city and has many relatives and friends who are among the refugees.

Former Slave Gets Pension Facts from Son of Ex-Owner

George Miller Locates Former Master in Missouri; Files Application

George Miller, a local colored man, doesn't know how old he is exactly, but he does know that he was a slave at one time, and that the son of his former master remembers him, and his father. Miller obtained information about his parents which he hopes will convince the Old Age Assistance board that he is qualified to receive assistance in his declining years.

Miller appeared in the office of Fred E. Deatherage, local Old Age Assistance department superintendent, to apply for relief. He couldn't prove that he was past the legal age of 65, but he did remember that a long time ago his father took care of livestock for a man named Sims, located near Mexico, Mo., and that his father was a slave.

That started the chain which resulted in the application being filed. Supt. Deatherage wrote to St. Clair, a son-in-law of the owner of Miller's father, and from Mrs. Margaretta Clark, obtained information that a George Miller, who also was a slave, remembered Miller when the two were boys on the Sims farm. In those days it was the custom of the slaves to take the name of their owner, and Miller's father had taken the name of John Sims in addition to his own name of George Miller, Sr.

Miller made an affidavit to the effect that he remembered George Miller, Jr., and Mrs. Clark sent the affidavit to the local office. George Miller, Jr., who was born in slavery, was considered as a slave until the signing of the emancipation proclamation.

Mrs. Clark, in her letter to Mr. Deatherage, stated that a large amount of the information obtained regarding Miller's early life on the farm near Mexico, Mo., was obtained by a faithful colored servant who is still in the Clark household.
